*Meet David Rosenfelt,
well-known author
& dog lover*

David Rosenfelt is an author who has written thirty-three novels and three TV movies. The main character in most of his mystery books is Andy Carpenter, attorney and dog lover.

Rosenfelt graduated from New York University and then decided to work in the movie business. After being interviewed by his uncle, who was the President of United Artists, he was hired and worked his way up the corporate culture. Rosenfelt eventually became the marketing president for Tri-Star Pictures. He married and had two children during this period.

Rosenfelt left the corporate industry and wrote screenplays for movies and television. He turned to writing novels and has become quite successful in that genre.. In 1995, they moved across country from California to Maine with more than 2 dozen dogs, which was an adventure all its own. Now, between writing his oh-so entertaining novels, he, along with his wife, support many rescues. Over the years they have rescued over 4,000 of the sweet animals, placing most in homes. Many were Golden Retrievers, but certainly not all.

The Rosenfelts themselves have many dogs that he often includes in his books.
